HIGHLIGHTED PRESS/QUOTES

One of "Atlanta's 50 Most Creative People" for work in digital media.

-Common Creativ Magazine

"Lori Lejeune is uniquely gifted in weaving magic from new technologies... I was struck by her significance immediately. Though we at Atlanta College of Art have registered several artists who were exploring digital media, her approach is notably poetic."

Anne Cox, Former Director, Georgia Artists Registry

"Lori Lejeune's use of 3-D and animation software to generate photographs ... that never existed outside of the computer demonstrates remarkable ingenuity ..."

Jerry Cullum, Art Critic, absolutearts.com

"Lejeune's work ... provides an introspective commentary on universal themes -- from relationship idiosyncrasies to life decisions and humorous contradictions ... "
Karen Grafe, Discover Silicon Valley Magazine

"(Lejeune's artwork) speaks with a strong social conscience"

Donna Bush, South Bay Accent Magazine

"Top 10 Artist 'New on View'"

Michael Barnes, Art Critic, Austin-American Statesman

ARTIST STATEMENT:

I create mixed media, cross-disciplinary art which frequently incorporates innovative digital elements. My wall installations spark thoughtful conversations.

In 2006, I was inspired to experiment with circular artwork by the late artist Diane Hause who invited artists to exhibit work on recycled compact disks at her gallery in Atlanta. This investigation of round work led to the origination of my "constellation" wall installation style by 2010. In my installations, smaller artworks of varying sizes are combined to create elegant patterns on the wall. Many viewers comment that my organic installation work reminds them of a constellation.

As my work evolved, I began incorporating other shapes into patterns that suggest a formation, movement or feeling. The work activates modern spaces and public sites.

Overcoming is a recurrent theme in my work. The Flight series uses the imagery of birds and other winged creatures overcoming gravity through flight and often appears in my wall installation work. The work combines paint and traditional fine art techniques with digital processes. The series stands for overcoming the forces in life that weigh us down, offering an uplifting message of transcending adversity. My Flight series work offers viewers a message of hope and inspiration.
